

Attention SFA Undergraduate Students

Opportunity to win $250 and scholarly awards

Did you do an outstanding paper or project last semester?
Submit your work to URC 2010, SFA's Undergraduate Research Conference.

URC 2010 will celebrate academic achievements and scholarly excellence from undergraduate students across SFA's six colleges over the past year.

Is your work eligible?

- Any SFA student paper or project composed or performed during calendar year 2009 (Spring, Summer, or Fall semesters of 2009) as part of an SFA undergraduate course or under the close supervision of an SFA faculty member is eligible.
- Research projects, creative artworks, and performative works are all eligible.
- Group papers/projects can be submitted for groups of up to five members.

What's in it for you?

- Academic competition and interdisciplinary exchange
- $250 cash award (six total - one for each college)
- A certificate of scholarly excellence from the SFA Provost's office
- High-profile opportunity to present your research or creative work
- Great differentiator for your resume and applications to graduate schools

Deadline for student submissions to departments is Thursday, February 18. For further information, contact your instructor or the department in which you completed the work.

URC 2010

Stephen F. Austin State University
Undergraduate Research Conference

Thursday, April 22, 2010

Twilight and Grand Ballrooms, Student Center

Sponsored by the Provost's office, the Honors College, and ORSP

For more information, go to: <http://www.sfasu.edu/honors/urc/index.asp>