It takes courage to grow up and become who you really are. I AM INTERIOR DESIGN.

Design Philosophy

Design is all about the freedom of expressing your true inner being through natural talent and obtained skills.

My name is Kiana Smith and I am a senior interior design major from Houston, Texas. After graduation I plan to work in the design world wherever life will take me. Interior design is and has always been my passion. I would like it to become something more than just a job, I want to change the way people feel when they see my spaces. I want to inspire people the way design inspires me.

I am open to both the commercial and residential aspects of interior design. I was created limitless and there is nothing that I cannot achieve.
